Korea University

Korea University is one of the leading universities in Korea with an acknowledged reputation for excellence in research and teaching and for links with business and industry. Korea University has passed its 118th anniversary in 2023. Since its foundation in 1905, Korea University has aimed to offer the highest quality of education in the broad range of the humanities, social sciences, national sciences, engineering, and medical sciences.

Korea University is proud of its outstanding academic schools, departments, and research institutions. The academic breadth of the university is extensive. Korea University has outstanding reputation in research institutes and has striven to infuse a new spectrum of educational programs that emphasize multiple majors, interdisciplinary studies and strategic partnership with private and public R&D centers.

Korea University is an international and cosmopolitan body, which is committed to taking an active part in global discourses and seeking plausible solutions for global issues. Korea University is the only-member university in Korea joining Universitas 21. The university has established an extensive network of international cooperation with a number of top-ranking universities around the globe, which has nurtured excellent academic achievements as well as student learning.

Graduate School of International Studies

Established in 1991, the Graduate School of International Studies (GSIS) at Korea University is a leading academic institution in educating and nurturing young experts specialized in international affairs. GSIS has contributed to producing specialists in International Commerce, International Development & Cooperation, International Peace & Security, Area Studies and Korean Studies. In 1996, Korea University GSIS was one of the top five graduate schools of international studies in Korea and were awarded a five-year national grant program initiated by the Ministry of Education. Since 2000, GSIS has been committed to conducting a cutting-edge research and teaching various international affairs and has attracted the highest quality of students and faculty members.

The primary goal of GSIS is to educate and train specialists in international affairs equipped with a comprehensive understanding of important theoretical tools and current economic, political, social, developmental and environmental issues. GSIS welcomes candidates of high caliber from all parts of the world.
